KEEPING OUR WORD: FOOLISH OR FAITHFUL?

By Dale Parsley

In the mid-19th century, Valentine Tapley was a wealthy Missouri farmer who was strongly against the nation electing their first Republican President, Abraham Lincoln. He vowed that if Lincoln became president, he would never shave again. Surprisingly, he kept that vow. By the time he died at the age of 80 in 1910, his beard was over 12 feet long! It is reported at first he had to tuck his beard inside his shirt when he worked on the farm, wrapping it around his body several times. Eventually, he rolled it up and stuffed it inside a silk pouch and laid it inside his clothes. Throughout time, his odd vow was something he seemed to embrace and became proud of; in fact, he was so paranoid that his beard would fall victim to grave robbers, he requested to be buried in a fortified coffin.

I think we can learn two valuable lessons from Mr. Tapley:

1. He's a great example of what it means to be faithful in keeping our word:

The first century Jewish system of swearing and vow keeping was nothing more than an attempt to justify dishonesty: Jesus said, "Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, 'You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform to the Lord what you have sworn.' (34) But I say to you, Do not take an oath at all, either by heaven, for it is the throne of God, (35) or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. (36) And do not take an oath by your head, for you cannot make one hair white or black. (37) Let what you say be simply 'Yes' or 'No'; anything more than this comes from evil" (Matthew 5:33-37).

2. He's a great example of being foolish with our words: Granted, it is a matter of an opinion to say it was foolish for him to never shave again; yet it still demonstrates the idea of making a promise but failing to count the cost. One of the most foolish vows ever made was before Jephthah lead the people of Israel in battle against the Ammonites, he vowed that if God would give them the victory, when he returned home, the first thing that came through the door of his house he would offer as a burnt offering to God (Judges 11:30-31); indeed the joy of victory turned to intense sorrow since it was his daughter.

Peter is another example when he boastfully said that he would never deny Jesus, yet did it 3 times (Matthew 26:31-35; 69-75). From the great apostle we learn to be very cautious in saying the word "never." Instead, when faced with serious difficulties, it is better to state we'd hope we would do the right thing.

Keeping our word is a demonstration of being faithful, but depending on what we "vow," it could also show our foolishness.
